Description

Elegant pair of Art Deco period armchairs, made around 1930 and fully restored in our specialized workshops, respecting traditional know-how. These armchairs embody the perfect alliance between the geometric rigor of Art Deco and modern comfort. The flat, straight armrests are made of macassar, a precious wood prized for its deep, contrasting grain. The seat and back have been newly reupholstered and dressed in a sumptuous Pierre Frey fabric, an iconic French house of high-end textiles. This choice reinforces the natural elegance of the whole, while guaranteeing a finish of exceptional quality. The armchairs rest on ball feet at the front and square feet at the back, details typical of Art Deco furniture, combining visual balance and stability.
