Description

Large stone sculpture representing a standing, naked man, surrounded by grapes and vine leaves - allegory of autumn. Sculpture signed A Deluol and dated 1946. André Deluol is a French artist (1909-1981) whose work is marked by direct carving sculptures, in different types of stone or marble. From the beginning of his career, he was a member of various Parisian and French artist salons, and met with success thanks to numerous public commissions. His works are now in various museums, but also in the family home museum dedicated to him in Vendée. Good general condition of the sculpture, on a square stone base (some chips). Total height 170cm. Height of the sculpture alone 130cm. Base 41 x 41cm.
