Description

We present this majestic 19th century Italian desk. An extremely particular desk that can be discreet and used in different environments thanks to its unique design.The desk is made of fine walnut wood, its line is wavy and fluid, with wavy and finely carved legs with curlicue and volute decorations that give a fantastic effect of lightness. Its most particular feature is the writing surface that is revealed only when the front is opened with a simple roller mechanism. When the surface is open you will have a practical and elegant support for writing or consulting documents, including four small drawers ideal for small objects. On the front there are six additional drawers to store your small everyday objects. Consider that the desk was designed to be positioned even in the center of the room, so you
