Description
-------------

Dog-shaped knocker. Wrought iron. Spanish school, 15th century. Wrought iron knocker with a star-shaped striking piece, with engraved decoration and a zoomorphic end (the typology, common in the Spanish Gothic school, is known as "dog-shaped"). This type of knocker was common in important residences, and similar examples are preserved in institutions such as the Provincial Ethnographic Museum of León or on the doors of houses such as those of Valdespino de Somoza. - Dimensions: 15x5x21 cm
