Description

Description:An exceptional small salon commode from the Transition period (circa 1770), showcasing the refinement and elegance of 18th-century Parisian cabinetmaking.Technical Expertise:Cabinetry: Rich marquetry featuring rosewood and indigenous woods. The front and sides display stained wood inlays highlighting finely detailed vases and floral bouquets.Structure: Built on an oak frame (a hallmark of quality), featuring two drawers designed "sans traverse apparente" (without visible crossbars), ensuring a seamless flow of the marquetry design across the façade.Ornamentation: Original finely chased gilt bronze mounts: ribbon-style ring pulls, escutcheons, and sabots.Lines: A perfect stylistic balance between the canted corners (Louis XVI)
