

Oil On Canvas, Reading, Late 19th Century

2 400 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oil painting

Width : 60

Height : 42.5

Description

This painting depicts a young woman engrossed in her reading, in the intimacy of an interior bathed in the warm light of a lamp. While the theme is classical, its treatment reveals a decidedly modern sensibility, rooted in early 20th-century Post-Impressionism. The artist focuses less on depicting the details of the furniture or the model's features than on capturing an atmosphere. The composition is organized around the luminous halo of the lamp--the true heart of the painting--which delicately illuminates the reader's face and the pages of the book. This golden-pink light spreads throughout the room, creating a subtle interplay of shadows and reflections that envelops the scene in a gentle intimacy.

Dealer

Galerie Saint-Martin

Antics, Furniture, Paintings, Fine art

Tel : 01-42-60-83-65

5 et 11 rue des Saints-Pères

Paris 75006