Dimensions: Height: 45 cm; Width: 25 cm About Jacob Petit (1796 - 1868): Jacob Petit (real name Jacob Mardochée) is a French porcelain manufacturer of the 19th century. His name remains attached to the originality of his production. Abundant and diverse, once judged to be of an exuberance of bad taste, his pieces are today sought after for their originality and the richness of their polychromy. His style inspired many other Parisian porcelain makers who produced quality works that have nothing to envy of the originals.
