Description

BRANDON, Raoul (1878-1941). Side elevation of the Church of Saint-Martin in Nieppe (North). Pencil. 62.5 x 95.5 cm, mounted on cardboard. Traces and small stains along the left edge. Signed lower right: "Drafted by the government architect and chief architect of the department, Raoul Brandon." The Church of Saint-Martin in Nieppe was completely destroyed at the end of the First World War. It was the architect Raoul Brandon (1878-1941), accompanied by his brother Daniel, who then built the current neo-Gothic church, a project of which we present. Ref. 8-61 / 13-44
