Description

This minimalist and modern ring in 18K (750?) white gold combines a strong presence with refined radiance. Its slightly tapered band supports a bezel-like bezel setting, which envelops a brilliant-cut diamond of approximately 0.55 ct. On each side, six princess-cut diamonds (total ? 0.50 ct) are channel-set, forming a perfectly integrated ribbon of light. Displaying a profile that is both imposing and comfortable (6.20 g), it can be worn alone as a contemporary wedding band or alongside an engagement ring. Its mirror finish highlights the precision of the setting, while a discreet rice grain on the back adds a touch of subtle texture. Created in recent years, this ring demonstrates a contemporary design--pure, yet essential. Technical sheet
