Description

André LHOTE (1885-1962) Allegorical scene, circa 1930 Watercolor on paper, medallion format Mounted under an ivory linen mat, giltwood frame with a molded groove Nameplate "A. LHOTE" at the bottom of the frame. Charming circular watercolor composition, illustrating a dreamlike scene animated by several nude and stylized figures, evolving in a lush landscape with mythological overtones. We can see dancing human figures, a bird in flight, foliage, and fluid curves that punctuate the space. The whole bears witness to André Lhote's unique visual language, combining the legacy of Cubism with a decorative and narrative vein specific to the 1920s and 1930s. The liveliness of the colors--blues, reds, greens, and oranges--and the mastery of the circular composition evoke both
