Description

Period: 1930sMaterial: Marble gritDimensions: 170 (h) × 89 × 50 cmDescription:A splendid decorative sculpture in marble grit, crafted during the height of the Liberty (Art Nouveau) period in the 1930s. The female figure, gracefully leaning over a flower-adorned basin, perfectly embodies the flowing elegance and sensuality typical of Liberty style. With a languid and refined gesture, the woman bends toward a bouquet (added decoratively), evoking a deep harmony between humanity and nature.The flowing lines, soft shapes, and rich floral detailing enhance the sculptural quality of the piece. Time has bestowed a charming patina on the surface, further enriching its romantic and slightly decadent appeal.Perfect as an ornamental element for historic gardens, period courtyards, or spaces
