Description

Decorative piece. Carved pine wood. 17th century. Finial or crest in carved pine wood in its color with a human bust in the center, placed between two volutes and thus creating an axis of symmetry for the elaborate composition that the piece presents, based on flowers, plant motifs, architectural details, etc. with a certain classicist influence and a lot of movement and depth. The fact that the back is not worked suggests that this relief may have originally been part of an important altarpiece, given the size and quality of the piece. Both the movement and the decorative elements of the composition link the work to the Spanish Baroque. - Dimensions: 117x65x45 cm
