Description

19th century blue glass and gilded brass box, probably from Maison MOSER. Rectangular in shape with rounded corners, it is decorated on the lid with a delightful enameled decoration of birds and flowers in a lighter blue than the background, which makes it stand out nicely; it is punctuated with small orange balls. The other parts of the box have the same decoration without the birds. The gilded brass frame has a keyhole, 1 small ring on each side and a finely chiseled hinge. This charming box is in good condition. L: 15cm W: 7.5cm H: 6.5cm
