Description

Large portrait painted on canvas representing a gentleman from the Louis XV period. The character with expressive eyes just sketches a smile according to the customs of the time. Dressed in a silk coat in blue tones, he wears a purple stole on his shoulder. Lace shirt and embroidery bring a refined touch to this noble character. The subject stands out against a golden background which is highlighted by a curtain behind his face. Light restoration carried out by our MH approved workshop. Old canvas and chassis. Very beautiful frame in carved gilded wood from the Louis XV period.
