Description

Portrait painting by François Louis Lanfant de Metz dated 1856 and signed on the back. François Louis Lanfant de Metz was born in Sierck (Moselle, France) on August 23, 1814 and died in Le Havre in 1892. He showed his talents as a painter in the studio of Ary Scheffer (1795-1858), a great painter of genre scenes from the French Romantic School. François Lanfant de Metz always followed his surname with the words "de Metz" thus indicating his origin. Metz, being both the closest city and better known than his hometown. The artist is undoubtedly the French painter of the 19th century who best dealt with the theme of childhood. He depicts carefree and mischievous childhood through playful images of rounds and nursery rhymes. His genre scenes are always full of humor and show his keen sense of
