Description

Dome-shaped ring known as "tutti frutti" due to the diversity of materials and colors with which it is adorned. This ring in 750/°° yellow gold (18 KT, owl hallmark) features precious stones (ruby, sapphire, emerald, diamond) and fine stones, most of which are cut in cabochon. Each cabochon is set closed, a central diamond edged with a twist, and rubies cut all around the diamond form a daisy, so as to create a general aesthetic of roundness. This roundness effect is accentuated by the cabochons themselves, and is found even on the body of the ring, also made of volutes and arabesques, punctuated with rubies. The ball shape of the jewel constitutes the basis of this general roundness effect. The whole is very rich and varied, sophisticated and yet sober and easy to wear. Gross weight: 5.76 g Finger
