Description

Louis-Philippe Chest of Drawers in Cherry Burl with Marble Top, Circa 1880 - Loire Valley This elegant Louis-Philippe chest of drawers from the late 19th century embodies the discreet charm and solid craftsmanship of French cabinetmaking, rooted in the soft landscapes of the Loire Valley where it was created. Carefully crafted by a skilled cabinetmaker, it features meticulously selected cherry burl, with a book-matched grain on the front forming a natural tableau of warm, deep tones--a true signature of the finest pieces from this period. The grey-pink marble top from the Pyrénées, precisely set within the structure, subtly captures the light and reveals delicate shades ranging from pearl grey to tender pink depending on the time of day. Its satin patina, polished by time, lends the piece a timeless and warm elegance, making it a refined focal point in any interior. The chest offers six functional drawers: o Three smaller drawers at the top, lockable with their original metal locks and escutcheons, o Three large drawers below, opening with original metal handles that add a subtle, understated elegance. The drawers are assembled with traditional dovetail joints, showcasing true artisanal craftsmanship while ensuring durability and strength, and the back is constructed in solid wood using mortise and tenon joinery. In an entryway, this chest beautifully stages floral arrangements, framed art, and curated objects; in a bedroom, it brings light while adding warmth, character, and authenticity, complementing both classic interiors and contemporary spaces seeking soul and refinement.
