Description

Elegant living room sideboard made from precious Brazilian jacaranda wood, dating from the 1960s. The piece of furniture stands out for its clean lines and the geometric balance of its structure, an expression of mid-20th-century South American modernist design. The warm, contrasting veins of the jacaranda, highlighted by a glossy, open-pore finish, decorate the entire surface with a natural graphic effect. The front includes two sliding doors and three central drawers, offering ample storage space and functionality. An authentic and iconic piece of furniture, ideal for modernist, vintage, or mid-century interiors.
