Pol Chambost (1906-1983) - French ceramist and sculptor, emblematic of 1950s design Pol Chambost was a major figure in 20th-century French ceramics. Trained in sculpture, he turned to ceramics in the 1930s and quickly developed a unique style, at the crossroads of decorative art and design. His creations, often inspired by the human body, are distinguished by their organic, sensual and sometimes daringly asymmetrical lines. Active
