Rare Bronze Lamp Signed F. Barbedienne - 19th Century - After Carrier-Belleuse
Elegant and refined, this rare gilt bronze lamp dates from the 19th century. It is a decorative work representing Victoria, the goddess of Victory, depicted standing and holding two light arms in the form of floral torches. This model demonstrates a neoclassical taste typical of the Second Empire. The design is attributed to the famous sculptor Albert-Ernest Carrier-Belleuse (1824-1887), known for his sensual and expressive works blending antique inspiration and romanticism. A collaborator of Rodin in his early years, Carrier-Belleuse was one of the major artists of the revival of the decorative arts under Napoleon III. He worked for the Manufacture de Sèvres and produced many decorative sculptures prized by European elites. The bronze is signed F. Barbedienne, a prestigious foundry run by Ferdinand Barbedienne (1810-1892), one of the most famous art founders of the 19th century. Barbedienne was able to combine technical excellence and artistic flair, collaborating with the greatest sculptors of his time to produce bronze works of the highest quality. His productions were renowned for their impeccable finish and their distribution throughout Europe. This lamp perfectly illustrates the virtuosity of Barbedienne's casting work and the elegance of the Carrier-Belleuse style. A rare and refined object, ideal for enriching a collection or enhancing a classic interior.
