rugs are inspired by Oushak rugs with a central medallion decorated with a wide variety of patterns. The whole is taken in four two-tone spandrels, bright red and blue with flower strewn patterns. The rug is surrounded by a wide old gold and beige border strewn with many patterns and flowers. Knotted in silk, we owe this rug to the work of nomadic and semi-nomadic tribes that were the kutayas. They were followers of stylistic conceptions totally geometric and the use of bright and bold colors whose arrangement is particularly harmonious. Today, these carpets are still knotted in the villages, but also in larger workshops of the "cooperative" type for wool carpets. The colors regularly used are blue, red, cream and a touch of curry yellow. Our model is adorned with these nuances. The whole makes up a carpet of very high quality, of a fine model, uncommon in very good condition, for amateurs. Dimensions: Width: 111 cm (44") x Length: 165 cm (65") A carpet of great elegance. Kütahya is the "capital" city of the province which bears the same name. It has approximately 720,000 inhabitants. In ancient times, the city was the Greek city of Cotyaion. Kütahya has thermal springs from Mount Gediz Murat (Gediz Murat Dagi). Kütahya was the capital of the Germyian princes. The city is also known for its wonderful ceramics and shimmering carpets.## More photos on request. This carpet has been ecologically and professionally cleaned.
