Description

Large bronze with medal patina made on the model of Christ on the cross by Alessandro Algardi, known as Algarde, an Italian sculptor of the 17th century. Very finely chiseled execution for this bronze revealing many details, both from the anatomical point of view and the rendering of the expression of the face. The head of Christ, with his wavy hair encircled by the crown of thorns, is inclined to the right. The perizonium tied around the waist of Christ has many folds, on the back of one of which is the signature F. Barbedienne on the left side. Very good condition.
