Description

Elegant pair of oils on canvas depicting two religious figures, attributed to a follower of the Spanish master Francisco de Zurbarán, active in the 17th century. These works demonstrate a remarkable mastery of chiaroscuro, characteristic of the Spanish school of this period, and strongly recall Zurbarán's mystical and introspective approach. The figures, dressed in monastic robes with carefully modeled folds, stand out against a dark background that accentuates their austere and meditative presence. One holds an open book, a symbol of contemplation and faith, while the other adopts a contemplative posture with crossed hands. Dimensions: 66 x 38 cm 60 x 31 cm Period gilt frames. Works of great spiritual power, perfect for lovers of Spanish Baroque art.
