Description

Original preparatory drawing produced as part of the Olympic torch project for the Grenoble Winter Games in 1968. This work on paper illustrates formal research into a modernist design, characteristic of the 1960s. Visible construction lines, vertical typography "Olympic torch", and graphic treatment suggest an intention of model or study submitted as part of the design of the official object. A rare testimony of the creative process around an emblem of the Games, this document has a strong documentary value. Presented under glass in a very beautiful light wood frame with mat.
