Description

Watercolor signed lower right: René. Measuring 31cm x 24cm visible, without frame, 46cm x 38cm in total. Caricature on the theme of the Railway, part of a series produced by René De Pauw during the Great War, evoking, in a satirical, sometimes ferocious way, the difficult living conditions of the people of Brussels occupied by the Germans, marked by the widespread shortage of basic products and the deterioration of their quality of life. René De Pauw, 1887-1946, Belgian painter, draftsman, caricaturist, engraver and illustrator. He was a student of Florimond Van Acker at the Academy of Bruges in 1912-1913. He settled in Brussels after the First World War. Stayed in Heist-aan-Zee from 1938 to 1943 then in Uccle. He initially painted floral compositions, portraits,
