Description

Elegant

pair of basins in fine white Carrara marble, made in Medici Renaissance style and shape. The basins have a podded body and are supported by a raised base, which adds a touch of refinement and majesty. A peculiar characteristic of these basins is the presence of a hole in the center, designed to allow water to drain if they are used as plant pots. This functional detail blends harmoniously with the classic and refined aesthetics of the basins, giving them an aura of timeless elegance. Second half of the 18th century Tuscan manufacture.
