Description

Emperor Napoleon I in profile bust Watercolor engraved overlines, annotated at the bottom "Grenoble March 9, 1815-Colin". The fallen Emperor leaves the island of Elba to try to reach Paris. He stops in Grenoble from March 7 to 9, 1815. Colin draws the character in profile, in military uniform, green and red tailcoat with gold epaulettes, pinned with medals, wearing a cocked bicorn. In order to respond to the numerous orders, he engraves his subject on a copper plate in order to produce numerous proofs on paper which he then watercolors. 15.5 x 11.5 cm
