Description

Monumental Pair of Charles X Candelabras - in the style of Pierre-Philippe Thomire France, circa 1825 Dimensions: Height 74 cm × Width 30 cm Superb pair of four-armed candelabras in patinated bronze and fire-gilt bronze, depicting a female figure and a male figure draped in the antique style, elegantly carrying the light structure on their shoulders. The richly chased light arms are decorated with acanthus leaves, lions' muzzles and are surmounted by a flame symbolizing eternal light. The stylistic influence of Pierre-Philippe Thomire, the famous bronzier of the Empire, is clearly evident in the quality of the chasing and the harmony of the design. An exceptional decorative ensemble from the early 19th century, perfect for a refined and majestic interior.
