Description

This is a set of two pairs of wooden wall shelves entirely covered in glacé brown velvet. Made to order by a skilled Roman artisan in the 1970s, they share the same design but come in two different sizes: two larger and two smaller ones. They were used to display and highlight objects or statues against a vertical wall. There's some dust, a few marks on the velvet, and a small nail protruding slightly from the structure--but overall, the condition of these luxurious wall shelves can be described as good.
