Description

Fine Mid 19th Century Mahogany Hall Bench This lovely mid-19th-century, early Victorian period mahogany hall bench or window seat perfectly combines practicality and charm. Crafted around 1850, this solid mahogany piece features turned bolsters at either end and a solid molded top, all supported by beautifully turned baluster legs. The rich color and patina of the mahogany are exceptionally preserved, highlighting the quality of both the materials and craftsmanship. Its simple yet elegant design makes it a versatile addition suitable for various settings, from hallways to living rooms. The bench seat height is 45cm.
