Description

We enthusiastically present this rare pair of very large Italian lanterns dating back to the first half of the 20th century. These formidable lanterns are characterized by a copper structure and glass cover, internally equipped with a light bulb. We want to bring to your attention the detail of the design because they have been made with great care! The final part as you will notice from the photos is made of cast iron, a heavier material than copper, this choice was made to allow the stability of these large lanterns. The final part in cast iron serves to perfectly balance the rest of the lighter lanterns, this feature allows you to place these large lanterns even in a patio or an open entrance hall, their design will allow perfect stability in case of wind. These lanterns are perfect for a large environment where it is
