Description

Maurice Taquoy (1878-1952) The elegant woman visiting the horses before the race Oil on canvas signed lower left and dated 1925 Dimension: 38 x 46 cm Dimension with frame: 55 x 64 cm Rare are the oils of Maurice Taquoy, who as a good rider passionate about nature produced numerous works related to horse riding and racecourses. Trained at the Julian Academy in the 1900s, he began engraving with his friend Boutet de Monvel. He developed his creativity in the world of horse racing, going so far as to create scarves for Hermès. From 1905, Maurice Taquoy participated in particular in the Salon d'Automne of which he was a member, the Salon des Indépendants and the Société Nationale des Beaux-Arts. Today his works are found in several museums. Note the audacity of the artist who
