Description

An exceptional PS 142 easy chairs designed by Eugenio Gerli for Tecno, Italy, circa 1970s. These sculptural lounge chairs embody the innovative spirit of Italian modernism, seamlessly blending form and function with a bold, organic aesthetic. Upholstered in their original burnt orange textured fabric, the chairs feature gently curved silhouettes with integrated armrests and enveloping backrests that offer both visual appeal and ergonomic comfort. The low, wide profile is complemented by discreet caster wheels, a signature design detail that enhances mobility without compromising the clean lines. Well-preserved and visually striking, this pair is ideal for collectors or interior designers looking to introduce iconic 20th-century Italian design into a contemporary or vintage-inspired
