Description

Elegant companion piece of furniture in tawny cherry wood, curved front, furnished with a curtain and drawer in the lower part. Provincial and elegant with its fretwork edged top and its elegant arched legs, in Louis XV style and from the 18th century, this charming piece of furniture on all sides is ideal for a side table to put a lamp on and the practical curtain to hide things. The worked sides are carved with rudentée fluting, which adds a touch of refinement, this piece of furniture, initially a bedside table, can be placed in good places in the house. Its proud appearance is a real decorative asset, it is enriched with small bronze pulls and fine bronze sabots at the front, of good proportion and an elegant design, this pretty piece of furniture will find its place; moreover, it is in good condition and healthy.
