Description

Classical guitar signed Sanchez from the 60s. This is a guitar most likely French dating from the 60s. It is a typical nylon string guitar of this era with steel string guitar tuners and yellow bakelite buttons found on guitars and mandolins from the mid-20th century. See all guitars made this way from the Brassens era. The spruce top with wide wings is decorated with violin-type purfling with alternating ebony maple and a triangular marquetry border. The rosette is original with floral decorations on a black shellac background. The back and sides are mahogany. This is a guitar that has lived and shows signs of use and wear. It is nevertheless restored, perfectly playable with a pleasant and timbre sound. The original label says guitar factory. Model José Sanchez. Gaillard et Loiselet. Lyon. This Gaillard
