Description

Handcrafted solid walnut armchair - An elegant armchair made in the early 20th century, specifically designed for a professional office. This piece is crafted from solid walnut wood, both for the seat and frame, while the curved backrest is made from walnut veneer, adding a touch of subtle distinction to the overall effect. Its understated, solid design evokes the Art Deco style, an aesthetic traditionally associated with professional offices--some even curtained--and spaces of an institutional nature. This armchair stands out not only for its appearance, but also for its great comfort, offering a deeply relaxing seat. Thanks to its sturdiness and the nobility of its materials, it is a piece suitable for both indoor and covered outdoor spaces, such as porches or galleries. Period: Early 20th century Dimensions:
