Description

Important German Cabinet from Augsburg - Late 16th / Early 17th Century Magnificent and rare German cabinet from Augsburg, dating from the late 16th to early 17th century. Crafted from light fruitwoods, this exceptional piece is richly decorated with fine marquetry covering the entire surface. The geometric patterns and architectural columns on the front are arranged to evoke an imaginative, almost futuristic cityscape--as it might have been envisioned in that period. Due to its imposing size, this cabinet was likely a prestigious custom commission, as most cabinets of the time were notably smaller. It retains its original iron fittings and rests on a turned-leg table base that mirrors the same marquetry pattern on its front, creating a cohesive and striking visual ensemble. The sides are adorned with
