Earthenware Pitcher From Eastern France - Early 19th Century

270 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Restauré

Material : Earthenware

Height : 28 cm

Description

Polychrome earthenware pitcher from St Clément - Early 19th centuryPost-revolutionary period (1789-1800). Pitcher depicting a revolutionary soldier dressed as such wearing a cockade on his hat. He holds a glass in one hand, a bottle in the other and is sitting on a barrel. His trousers are multi-colored. Piece signed by St Clément, which makes it of interest to collectors of earthenware from eastern France. The whole has been repaired: the face of the soldier and the front part of the hat are glued back on, the interior glaze redone, a chip on the base, the interior part not visible when the piece is placed, otherwise the rest of the piece is intact.

Dealer

Chaumont Claude
antiquités 16 ème siècle au 20ème siècle.
Mobile : 0685827789

6 rue pasteur
Abbécourt 02300