Description

Micromosaic in vitreous paste on veined alabaster support
Dimensions: 23 x 14 x 2.5 cm
Refined rectangular micromosaic plaque depicting two winged putti riding galloping black goats, set against a narrow strip of grassy ground. The figures, animated and full of vitality, hold small sticks or whips, suggesting a playful or mythological scene inspired by the classical world. The background is composed of tightly arranged ivory tesserae, framed by a dark red mosaic border, all set into a warm-toned veined alabaster slab. The meticulous execution, using extremely fine filati tesserae, is characteristic of the high-quality Roman production made for Grand Tour collectors. The work may be attributed to the circle of Antonio Aguatti or similar Roman mosaicists active between 1820
