Description

Magnificent rosewood desk table, enhanced by refined rosewood marquetry. A testament to 19th-century craftsmanship, its top is richly decorated with scrolls and fleur-de-lis, a symbol of distinction and nobility. The edge of the top is inlaid with bone alternating with blackened wood for contrasting geometric shapes. This table, in perfect balance between functionality and aesthetics, has a large drawer in the belt, ideal for storing your precious objects while maintaining its sophisticated look. Its sculptural base, reminiscent of the Louis XIII style, is composed of twisted columns joined by an X-shaped spacer. The latter is also inlaid with bone. A true collector's item, perfect for lovers of period furniture.*****Period: Mid-19th centuryExcellent condition after restoration in our
