Description

Large oil painting on canvas depicting the famous biblical episode of the Supper at Emmaus, one of the most poignant moments in the New Testament. The scene captures the instant in which the risen Christ reveals himself to his disciples during the breaking of bread, rendered with dramatic intensity and rich details.

Attributed to the Italian school of the 18th century, the work features vibrant colors, finely detailed figures, and a well-balanced composition. In the background, a servant enters with a tray; in the foreground, a dog rests attentively, and shelves of carefully arranged crockery provide context to the domestic setting. The radiant halo around Christ draws the viewer's eye at once.
