Description

Zimbabwe, Shona Art, Contemporary sculpture from the 1980s in the spirit of sculptor Fanizani Akuda. This superb sculpture made from a block of serpentine represents a maternity in an abstract form and with protruding shapes. This representation of the mother and child is very touching and inspiring, the mother with a heart-shaped face looks up and seems to implore the heavens, the child, asleep, his head nestled against his mother's belly. This reminds us of Brancusi's famous sculpture "The Sleeping Muse". Beautiful quality work revealing the beauty and finesse of the details and giving a lot of sensitivity to the subject.
