Description

Delightful pastel from the Napoleon III period, in the 18th-century style, depicting a mother and her child by Eugène LEJEUNE. This talented painter is listed in the BENEZIT. He was born on December 14, 1818, and died in Paris in 1897. He was a pupil of Paul Delaroche and Gleyre. He exhibited at the Salon from 1845 onwards. His works are displayed in the museums of Chartres, Brest, etc. This charming pastel is signed at the bottom and is presented in its original giltwood frame, adorned with stucco pearls and protected by its original glass. Dimensions with frame: 51 cm x 41 cm. The photos are taken in natural light. Careful packaging. Shipping costs to be borne by the buyer. I remain at your disposal for any further information and additional photos.
