Description

A finely painted Royal Vienna porcelain chocolate cup, c.1880, decorated in cobalt blue with elaborate raised gilding and moriage beading in gold and white enamel. Executed on a deep cobalt ground with meticulous attention to detail, exemplifying the refinement of Vienna porcelain of the late 19th century.

The panoramic frieze features three interconnected allegorical scenes: a rustic mother soothing her child (Nature), village women gathering flowers and weaving a garland (Art), and Cupid riding in a
