Description

Very beautiful baroque or baroque style belt mouth in cast silver and decoration of alternating foliage and flower scrolls of bearded male figures holding a tambourine in one hand and a bowl in the other, the center openworked with a rectangle, the angles softened in rounded and the central and peripheral rim underlined with a pearl-like line. You will notice that the details of the decoration are finely chiseled. Weight: 73.50 g. The object does not appear to bear a hallmark, but the reagent test confirms that it is indeed silver. If you have any questions, we are at your disposal.
