Description

Gold-plated women's fountain pen from the Edacoto brand, made in France in the 1930s, model known as the "jeweler series", push-button filling mechanism guaranteed for one year, 18K gold nib offering flexible and smooth writing. Length 9 cm closed and 11 cm open. Edacoto (Paris, France). Originally, the Edac company was mainly a manufacturer of mechanical pencils. It nevertheless produced a few pens, including an all-metal model with automatic filling and a priming system. In 1931, it distributed Aurora pens in France and supplemented them with mechanical pencils to form the modern duo, while developing the manufacture of its own pens. In 1959, it was one of the manufacturers of the Visor Pen.
