talent blends so well with a generous and fulfilling technique. André ROUBAUD does not coddle the futile detail. Under a robust, ample and tonic touch, the color palette is rich, effective, always ready to play with nuance and light, which is located in a composition remarkable for its truthfulness and flexibility. Here is a healthy painting, which can alternate reflection or dynamism without losing its deep soul of testimony to an environment of well-being and good living, in contact with multiple sites marked by the creative will of a vast and exhilarating picturesqueness as the south knows how to deliver it and as transmitted with so much truth and happiness by this enthusiastic painter and pastelist. André RUELLAN, art critic Mr, Mm cordially thank you for your visit and perhaps see you soon.
