

The Funfair

950 EUR

Description

Oil on panel by G RÖDEL In the heart of Paris in the 1930s, under the lights of the City of Light, the funfair comes alive on the lively square of the streets. In the style of Jules, René Hervé. In the foreground, the majestic Carrousel captures all eyes: gilded wooden horses, chiseled carriages, and bursts of laughter resonate as a carefree crowd swirls around, carried away by the festive madness. Further away, in the background, the rides compete in color and music, offering sensations and wonders at every corner.

Dominating the scene from the third plane, the Ferris wheel draws circles, offering a magical panorama of Paris, where the past and magic mingle for the duration of an unforgettable evening.
