Description

Rémy Pagart, Mister BOBO. Tall sculpture in resin and plastic Rémy Pagart first worked in decoration, interior architecture and design. It is this profession that gave him a taste for working with materials; it is from their encounter that his works are born; reflection comes later. A DIYer by nature, even by profession, he develops new techniques as for his plastic paintings; stapling and stuffing rather than classic and polluting collage. His hairy characters populating his installations are not to be outdone (Hotel Europa "Bang-Bang" at the Gare Saint-Sauveur or his room "Monstrouille" for Lille 3000 Fantastic). Rémy Pagart defines himself more as a visual artist than an artist; he will talk to you more about artistic craftsmanship than the art market or simply to tell you that in his opinion, today, it is
