Description

19th century Rattanakosin Kingdom, Thailand - Rama V period, 1868-1910 Gilt bronze sculpture depicting Pang Ham Yati (Monday Buddha) standing with his hands in double abhaya mudra. He rests on a four-tiered octagonal lotus-shaped pedestal, topped with a pointed railing. His face is exquisitely shaped and has a meditative expression. This classical Buddha is dressed in his finest attire, with an arrow-shaped crown and upturned royal slippers. He is in good condition for his age. The pedestal is missing some spikes on the railing, the crown may be missing a point (hard to see, deals made this way), and the smallest tier of the lotus-shaped pedestal has some wear around the feet of the Buddha. See the photos. Dimensions: 55 cm x 14.5 cm / 3.9 kg
